THE REPORT
OF THE
PRESIDENT OF QUEEN'S COLLEGE, BELFAST, FOR THE YEAR 1895-96.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I have the honour to present to Your Majesty my annual Report on the condition and progress of Queen's College, Belfast, during the academic year 1895-96. The following are—

THE STATISTICS OF THE YEAR.

The number of students in attendance was 392, being an increase of 6 on the previous year. Of these 355 were matriculated students, and 37 non-matriculated; whereas in 1894-95 only 340 were matriculated and 46 were not. The numbers in the several Faculties were—Faculty of Arts, 139; Faculty of Medicine, 228; Faculty of Law, 23; School of Engineering, 8. Those numbers added together make 398, but as 6 students attended in more than one Faculty, the true total is that stated above, viz., 392.

It is interesting to compare these figures with those of the first year of the history of the College. Then only 90 matriculated students were in attendance, as against the 355 now reported, while 105 had passed no matriculation examination. Three years later the College had only 154 students altogether, matriculated and non-matriculated, on its books. Since that time there have been, owing to various causes, many fluctuations in the attendance, but the comparison which I have made between the day of small things of fifty years ago and the attendance of the year just ended is instructive and reassuring.

The large majority of the students last session came, as usual, from Belfast and the various districts of Ulster. The three other Provinces of Ireland were, however, also represented, and we had, in addition, students from England, Scotland, Spain, France, the United States of America, Canada, Bermuda, British Guiana, Australia, India, Ceylon, Syria, Japan, and Cape Colony. Two hundred and forty-three were over twenty-one years of age, and one hundred and forty-nine younger. As usual, all the religious denominations which prevail in the North of Ireland were represented, the College being open to all classes of Your Majesty's subjects, without any distinction whatsoever.

THE ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

Among those attending College during the year were seventeen young ladies—the largest number that we have yet had in any session. In my last report, after stating the number of ladies that had been enrolled, I said—"No doubt many more of them would attend, were it not that, in the opinion of the Law Officers of the Crown in Ireland, our scholarships and prizes are not open to them. From this disability I sincerely hope they will soon be relieved." It gives me pleasure now to be able to chronicle the fact that the relief thus hoped for has come. By a warrant under Your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, dated 4th December, 1895, certain alterations and additions have been made in the statutes of the College, and one of the latter is as follows:—"All Scholarships and Prizes shall be open to students of either sex." These amended statutes will come into operation on 1st October next, and therefore at the examinations for scholarships which will be held in the course of that month, women will be admissible. Counsel's opinion has been taken as to whether the scholarships, studentships, &c., which have been founded in the College by private endowment are also now to be open to either sex. A reply in the affirmative has been received. The competition for our various honours, always keen and healthy, may therefore be expected to prove unusually interesting next session, owing to this wider opening of our doors. The importance of the encouragement and assistance which will be given to the higher education of women by the placing at their disposal of studentships, scholarships, and other prizes of various kinds, of the annual value in all of over £2,000, can scarcely be exaggerated.

Now that the question of the admission of women to all the benefits of the College has thus been settled, it may be well to place its history succinctly on record. Originally the institution was only open to men. In 1881 women were admitted to the classes in the Faculty of Arts, but the opinion of the Law Officers, already referred to, debarred them from the enjoyment of any Scholarship or Prize, and indeed also from the legal status of students. In 1889 the further step was taken of allowing them to attend lectures in the Faculty of Medicine, and, later on, all the College classes in all the Faculties were open to them, but still only in the restricted sense imposed by the existing statutes. Now, in 1896, the final stage has been reached, and all barriers have disappeared from their path. It will be noticed that the College has proceeded with due caution and deliberation in making this important change, each forward step having only been taken as experience warranted, and not until it was plainly seen that no evil results, but on the contrary much good, had followed the initial efforts, was the final step resolved upon to which Your Majesty's gracious sanction has now been given—a step which will, I trust, result in large benefit to the higher education of the North of Ireland.

THE DISCIPLINE OF THE COLLEGE.

I have again the sincere satisfaction of reporting that not a single case of offence against College discipline by any student was brought under the notice of the Council during the past year. This fact speaks for itself. To the honour of the students it must be said that their general behaviour is such as to afford the highest satisfaction to the College authorities, and to render the task of maintaining due discipline within our walls pleasantly easy.

THE DEATH-ROLL OF THE YEAR.

I am happy to be able to report to Your Majesty that no breach was made in the ranks of our staff during the year. We had to lament, however, the death of a former Professor who, for the thirty-three years from 1857 to 1890, occupied an honoured place among us, and held also deservedly high rank as a physician of rare skill and ability not only in Belfast but all over Ulster. I refer to Dr. James Seaton Reid, late Professor of Materia Medica, whose mortal remains were in May last followed to their last resting place in the City cemetery by a large body of mourners, representative both of the City and the College.

Nor can I help alluding to another death which occurred during the year, although it was not that of one of our number. By the demise of the late Sir E. J. Harland, Bart., M.P., the College undoubtedly lost one of its best and ablest friends, one who recognised, as few men have done, the immense importance to this city and the entire country of maintaining it in the fullest efficiency, and who, from the time of his election as a member of the Imperial Parliament, gave me readily and heartily the most valuable aid from time to time in obtaining for it from the State the recognition and assistance which it required.

We had to lament also losses among our graduates. One of these was specially deplored in the College, that of Dr. John Strahan, who, though his sun may be said to have gone down while it was yet day, had deservedly gained a singularly high reputation for his knowledge of medicine, and whose death brought mourning into many a household where he had proved himself not merely the skilled physician but the trusted friend. His essay on "The Fevers of the United Kingdom" gained the Fothergill Gold Medal of the Medical Society of London in 1886, and his treatise on "The Diagnosis and Treatment of Extra-Uterine Pregnancy" the Jenks Prize of the College of Physicians, Philadelphia, in 1889.

ADDITIONS TO THE STAFF.

Two additional lectureships have, with the sanction of His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, been founded during the year, one in Ophthalmology and Otology, and one in Sanitary Science. To the former Dr. W. A. McKeown, an alumnus of the College, whose eminence as an oculist is well known all over the medical world, has been appointed. The latter has been placed in the joint charge of Dr. E. A. Letts, Professor of Chemistry in the College, who will lecture on those portions of the prescribed course which come within the domain of chemistry, and Dr. Henry Whitaker, Medical Superintendent Medical Officer of Health to the City of Belfast, who will, in virtue of his official position, have special facilities for familiarising his students with the practical details of Sanitary Science.

A class in Bacteriology has also been commenced during the year, with Dr. Lorrain Smith as lecturer. The wisdom of establishing it is proved by the fact that, although a purely voluntary class, it began with a roll of eighteen members.

So many changes of various kinds have of late occurred in the teaching staff that I think it advisable to give here a complete list of its present members. They are as follows:—

The Greek Language, ...	Professor DILL, M.A.
The Latin Language, ...	Professor DOUGAN, M.A.
Mathematics, ...	Professor PURSER, M.A., LL.D., F.R.U.I.
Natural Philosophy, ...	Professor EVERETT, M.A., D.C.L., F.R.S., F.R.U.I.
History and English Literature, ...	Professor MACMULLAN, M.A., F.R.U.I.
Logic and Metaphysics, ...	Professor PARK, M.A., D.LIT., F.R.U.I.
Chemistry, ...	Professor LETTS, PH.D., F.R.S.E., F.R.U.I.
Natural History and Geology, ...	Professor CUNNINGHAM, M.D., D.Sc., F.L.S., F.G.S., F.R.U.I.

Sanitary Science, ...	{ E. A. LETTS, PH.D., F.R.C.S., F.C.S. HENRY WHITAKER, M.D.
Practical Pharmacy, ...
	VICTOR G. L. FIELDEN, M.B.

It will be seen from this list that there are at present twenty-four professors and lecturers in the College, not reckoning demonstrators and assistants.

THE HONOURS AND SUCCESSES OF THE YEAR.

From its earliest days Queen's College, Belfast, has been noted for the high positions which its students have taken at the Universities and at other public examinations. I am happy to be able to say that, judging from the latest returns, there appears to be no falling off in this respect. It would be impossible to record here all the honours which have been won during the year. In the Appendix to this Report I shall furnish a complete list. Here I content myself with mentioning a few of the more striking.

Most of our students resort for their degrees to the Royal University of Ireland, whose examinations are well known to be among the most testing in the United Kingdom. The results of these examinations during the year 1895-96, so far as the honours gained by the students of this College are concerned, may be summarised thus:—At the Summer Examinations of 1895 the Queen's College, Belfast, candidates carried off a total of 19 First Classes and 28 Second Classes in the Faculties of Arts and Medicine, together with 16 Exhibitions varying in value from £42 to £15. At the Autumn Examinations they gained 7 First Classes and 12 Second Classes in the Faculties of Arts, Medicine, Law, and Engineering, with 11 Exhibitions varying in value from £42 to £10. At the same Examinations the Studentship in Mathematics, the pecuniary value of which is £300, was gained by one of our students, Mr. J. G. Leathem. Another, Mr. Robert Magill, was awarded by the Senate a Gold Medal and a Special Prize of £50 for his highly distinguished answering in Mental Science at the Examination for the Degree of M.A. At the Spring Examinations of this year, out of seven candidates for the Degrees of M.B., B.Ch., and B.A.O. who were placed by the Examiners in the Upper Pass division, five were from this College, and two of them were awarded Exhibitions for their distinguished answering.

At other Universities our students have also taken some very high places during the year, a complete list of which will be found in the Appendix to this Report. I may specially mention the following:—At the Mathematical Tripos Examinations in the University of Cambridge in the Summer of this year, Mr. W. A. Houston was bracketed Fifth Wrangler. During the year Mr. R. K. M'Elderry gained a prize in the same University for the best Latin Essay on "England's Sea Power," while Mr. J. G. Leathem was elected to the Sir Isaac Newton Studentship founded for the promotion of research in Astronomy or Physical Optics, the value of which is £200 per annum for three years. At the University of Oxford Mr. D. D. Reid was awarded a First in the Modern History Class List.

Nor have our Law students been behind their compeers in the other Faculties in the honours which they have gained. This summer the Benchers of King's Inns, Dublin, have awarded the first Victoria Prize in the Senior Class to Mr. J. M. Whitaker, and the second to Mr. M. Ellison, while the first prize in the Junior Class was divided between two other men of this College, Mr. Henry Hanna and Mr. Robert Spencer Park, and in the Law Students' Debating Society of King's Inns the David Lynch Silver Medal for Legal Debate was gained by Mr. H. Hanna.

With the mention of one other victory I close this account. At the examination for County Surveyorships held in last autumn Mr. J. W. Leebody gained the first place among all the candidates. He succeeded in obtaining 770 marks out of the possible total of 1,000. It is unnecessary to say that I have the utmost pleasure in recording this long and brilliant series of distinctions won by our alumni during the year—distinctions which evince high ability, and were gained by incessant toil, and which are not only honourable to the fortunate winners, but reflect the greatest credit on their alma mater, especially on the Professors under whom they were trained in their several departments of study.

Among distinctions of another kind which have been conferred on alumni of the College during the year, the following may be mentioned:—Sir William McCormac, M.A., M.D., D.Sc., elected President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Mr. John Perry, M.E., F.R.S., appointed Professor of Mechanics and Mathematics in the Royal College of Science, London; Rev. Thomas Macafee Hamill, M.A., appointed Professor of Theology in Assembly's College, Belfast; Rev. George Woodburn, M.A., appointed Professor of English and Logic in Magee College, Londonderry; and Mr. J. Andrew Strahan, M.A., LL.B., Professor of English Law in this College, elected an Honorary Associate of the Royal Institute of British Architects in recognition of the services he has rendered to the profession by his writings on the law relating to architects, and in other ways. All these honours were heard of among us with lively satisfaction.

ALTERATION OF THE COLLEGE CHARTER.

I have already referred to the alteration of the Charter of the College by Your Majesty in December last in regard to one important particular, viz., the admission of women. Other changes which were also made in it by the Royal Warrant were:—

(1.) The creation of new Scholarships in the Faculty of Medicine to meet the extension of the course for the Degrees of M.B., B.Ch., and B.A.O., from four years, its former length, to five, as now required by the General Medical Council. There are now ten Scholarships in this Faculty.

(2.) The abbreviation of the academic course in Law from three years to two, to harmonize with the requirements of the Benchers of King's Inns and of the Incorporated Law Society.

(3.) A redistribution of the Law Scholarships.

(4.) An alteration of the system under which Second and Third Year Scholarships in the Faculty of Arts have hitherto been awarded, power being now given to the Council to require a separate examination for the Third Year Scholarships—a power which they have resolved to exercise.

These changes have been made at our request, and will come into operation on 1st October next. We trust they will all be found conducive to the greater furtherance of the cause of education in Ireland.

THE REPORTS OF THE DEANS OF RESIDENCES.

I have received the following Reports from the Deans of Residences, whose disinterested labours on behalf of the Students I highly appreciate:—

“St. Andrew's Rectory,

“University Square,

“Belfast, 4th June, 1896.

“DEAR MR. PRESIDENT,—In response to your letter of the 3rd inst., I have to make the following Report of the Church of Ireland students of Queen's College, Belfast, for the past Session. I am again happy in being able to express my conviction that the students have exhibited in their moral conduct almost everything that could be expected. Indeed, I am sure that the whole tone of the College has been for many years gradually and surely developing for greater good. And when the now nearly completed “Union” building is in operation, new opportunities of a valuable character will arise for still greater improvement.

“Much of this advance is caused by the healthful and religious influence of the “Christian Union of Queen's College.” This Society not only continues its work, but has succeeded in causing the formation of a Women's Branch to meet the case of a numerously increasing roll of lady students.

“Soon after the opening of the First Term of last winter's Session the Lord Bishop of Down and Connor held a special service, and preached a sermon addressed to students in my Church of St. Andrew. A large number of students attended, and the presence of the President of Queen's College and that of the Registrar (Professor Purser) marked the sympathy of the officials with the young men. I have also made some little efforts towards aiding the students to establish a more intimate bond among them than mere studentship would accomplish.

“With the other Deans, I have to express the hope that in the new “Union Buildings” this “Christian Union” may have such a place as may help its further prosperous development.

“I remain, dear Mr. President,

“Yours very faithfully,

“S. EDWARD BUSBY, Ck., LL.D.,

“Dean (I.C.), Q.C.B.”

“3 College Park, Belfast,

“10th June, 1896.

“DEAR MR. PRESIDENT,—I have much pleasure in reporting that, as far as I have been able to learn, the conduct of the students belonging to the Presbyterian Church has been most satisfactory.

“I conducted a weekly Bible Class for young men, to which students were specially invited, and a considerable number of students—about thirty—were members of this class and attended it during the Session.

“I preached a special sermon for students in Rosemary-street Church, at which the middle aisle of the Church was reserved exclusively for Queen's College students, and a large number of them attended the service.

"Meetings of the members of the Students' Christian Union were regularly held in the College during the Session, and several addresses on religious subjects were given to them; and I believe that the members of this Union are exercising a wholesome Christian influence on their fellow-students.

"I am,

"Yours faithfully,

"MATTHEW LEITCH,

"Presbyterian Dean of Residences."

"5th June, 1896.

"DEAR MR. PRESIDENT,—Regarding the Methodist Students attending the Queen's College, and under my care as Dean of Residences I am glad to be able to say that, so far as I know, their conduct during the past year has been eminently satisfactory. Some of them are Members of the Students' Christian Union, and exercise a very beneficial influence over their fellow students.

"I am, very truly yours,

"WM. NICHOLAS, D.D.,

"Methodist Dean of Residences.

"The President,

"Queen's College, Belfast."

"Adelaide Park, Belfast,

"June, 6, 1896.

"DEAR SIR,—I am happy to be able to report favourably of the Students who have been under my care.

"Yours faithfully,

"DOUGLAS WALMSLEY.

"To the President,

"Queen's College, Belfast."

ADDITIONS TO THE COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

In my last Report I referred with pleasure to the fact that the erection of a new block of buildings, to be devoted to teaching and research in Physiology and Pathology, had been commenced. I am happy to say now that this building has been completed and already brought partially into use, the departments of Pathology and Bacteriology having been conducted in it during the summer session of this year. The accommodation afforded by it comprises lecture-rooms, practical class-rooms, laboratories, culture-room, &c.—in fact all the rooms necessary for the successful study of these important and growing sciences. Already the value of the building has been amply proved, lecturers and students being alike able to pursue their work in it not only with greater comfort, but with much more efficiency than was heretofore possible.

The foundation stone of the College Union, which is being erected by means of monies obtained by public subscription, was very kindly laid on 18th January last by His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland (The Right Hon. Earl Cadogan, K.G.), and, ever since, the building has been vigorously pushed forward under the superintendence of its accomplished architect, Mr. Robert Cochrane, F.R.I.B.A., Surveyor for the Northern District to the Commissioners of Public Works, and an alumnus of this College, to whose skill and attention I cannot but express our obligations here, not only for the beautiful plans which he drew for the Union, and the care with which he has watched over its erection, but for the taste and efficiency with which he has seen to the maintenance of all the College buildings since they came under his charge. It is expected that the Union will be ready for occupation some time in next session. It promises not only to afford most commodious and suitable accommodation for the purposes for which it is intended, but to be also a most elegant and handsome addition to the College buildings. Undoubtedly it will conduce materially to the comfort and well being of the students in attendance at College, and it is hoped that it will also furnish a congenial meeting-place to which former students will frequently resort, not only to enjoy for themselves the advantages which it will afford, but to give the benefit of their presence and experience to those who are commencing academic life.

While speaking of our buildings, I regret to be obliged, even at the risk of seeming importunate, to press once more upon Your Majesty's Government the necessity of providing further additions to the equipment of the College. I shall mention only three of these much needed additions, not because they exhaust the list, but because they stand first, in my opinion, in the order of necessity. They are:—1. A Physical Laboratory. 2. A Biological Laboratory. 3. The completion of the block of buildings devoted to Chemistry by the erection of the lecture theatre originally contemplated, and provided for on the plans drawn by the Board of Works. I feel bound to say that the College suffers severely in more ways than one, and Professors and students endure much inconvenience, because of the want of the three buildings to which I here refer. Physical Laboratory, strange to say, we have none, save such as can be roughly improvised in a lecture room. A Biological Laboratory is also non-existent—the Professor being obliged to utilise for the purpose a corner of the anatomical dissecting room when he can get it. And the inconvenience and loss caused by the delay in completing the chemical buildings, by the erection of the lecture theatre arranged for when they were begun, can only be properly understood by those who have tried the experiment of endeavouring to be in two different places at the same time. Professor, demonstrator, attendants, and students are kept flitting about daily from the old lecture theatre to the new buildings, and back from the new buildings to the old, and not only moving themselves, but taking delicate and easily-injured apparatus along with them. I therefore most earnestly urge the immediate provision of these three requisite additions. Now that the people of Belfast are manifesting a laudable interest in the affairs of the College—an interest which will, I hope, increase from year to year with the increase of the city and our ever-growing needs—I trust that the State will extend a judicious encouragement to the exercise of local beneficence by dealing in a liberal spirit with such necessities as I have now mentioned. So long as the College is connected with the State, by which it was founded, the State has a duty to discharge towards it, a duty which is laid down in the Colleges Act, and will, I trust, be recognised more clearly and discharged more vigorously as the years roll on; and, on the other hand, as has well been said—"The provision of State protection should never be permitted to absorb the self-reliance or to supersede the self-action of the community in promoting the education and elevation of the people." Instead of being regarded as a reason for standing aloof from helping the College, State aid should surely rather prove a stimulus and an encouragement to exertion on its behalf.

OUR FUNDS.

I regret also to be obliged to say that the funds which are at the disposal of the College for the support of the various scientific departments are proving so insufficient that these departments are suffering seriously. When it is remembered how enormously science has advanced during the past half century, several sciences having, it may be said, been created within that period, and all having developed very materially, and when the fact is borne in mind that the annual grant for the maintenance of the College has remained at the same figure during all those years, this deficiency ought not to be surprising. Within the last five years alone, five entirely new scientific departments have been established in the College, and several which were previously in existence have been so expanded that they might almost be said to be new also. The additional buildings which have been erected necessitate also additional expenditure. With all the economy which the Council can exercise they have not been able adequately to meet these increasing demands, and yet we recognise that unless we keep pace with the advance of the times our labours must be shorn of much of their usefulness and value. I feel it to be my duty to represent this serious condition of things to Your Majesty, and I trust that measures may be devised for meeting it, so that the good work in which the College is engaged, and which, I take leave to say, it has done and is doing with such remarkable success and at a cost to the public purse so small, may not be hampered or crippled.

VISIT OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE LORD LIEUTENANT OF IRELAND.

In January last His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, accompanied by the Countess Cadogan, honoured the College with a visit which was hailed with sincere pleasure. An address from the President and Council was presented to him on the occasion, and also an address from the students. To both His Excellency was pleased to reply in very gracious terms.

THE JUBILEE OF THE COLLEGE.

It is intended to celebrate the completion of the fiftieth year of the life of the College early in the coming year, and arrangements for this purpose are in progress. I am happy to be able to state that the Lord Lieutenant has most kindly and cordially acceded to my request that he would honour us with his presence on the occasion, and I sincerely trust that our alumni and the citizens of Belfast will unite with us in worthily marking the completion of the first half century of the life of a seat of learning which is universally acknowledged to have conferred, during its comparatively brief existence, innumerable blessings on our common community.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY.

During the year there were added to the College Library 664 volumes and 142 other publications, or 806 in all. Most of these were purchased, but for a considerable number we were indebted to the kindness of alumni or other friends. A full list of these generous donations is given in an Appendix to this Report, but I must here mention, as deserving of special notice, two valuable gifts, one of fifty volumes treating of philosophical subjects, presented by Professor Park, D.Lit., and another of fifty-five publications on topics connected with agriculture, given by Professor Hodges, M.D. The Library now contains nearly 54,000 volumes, and is by far the largest in Belfast.

The preparation of the new Catalogue, to which I have referred in previous reports, is being steadily carried on under the careful supervision of Dr. Meissner, our accomplished Librarian. The compilation of a work so large, and involving in its progress so many inquiries, cannot be rapidly accomplished, but I cherish the confident expectation that it will be completed at no distant date.

At the commencement of the session a new Library Committee was appointed, which met regularly during the winter and bestowed much attention on the affairs of the Library, to its undoubted advantage.

THE COLLECTION OF COINS.

Nearly forty years ago a commencement was made towards the formation of a collection of Greek and Roman coins for the College. Considerable purchases were made at that time and since. These, however, were never properly catalogued or arranged. At my request David Buick, Esq., M.A., LL.D., an esteemed alumnus of the College, and a high authority on numismatics, very kindly undertook this task, which he has now completed. He has furnished me with a detailed report which shows that the collection consists of 294 gold and silver coins, which are distributed thus—Greek series 94, Roman series, 199, miscellaneous 1. Dr. Buick has compiled a full catalogue of all—those of the Greek series being arranged in accordance with the order adopted in the Historia Nummorum, those of the Roman consular series alphabetically, according to the families to which they belong, and those of the Roman imperial series in the order of time. The collection will now be exhibited in cases constructed for the purpose, and, on behalf of the College, I record here my thanks to Dr. Buick for this very valuable service which, at the expense of a good deal of time and trouble, he has rendered to his alma mater.

In the course of the year a movement was organised for the purpose of having a portrait of the Rev. George Hill, the well-known author of "The Plantation in Ulster," and "The MacDonnells of Antrim," who was Librarian from 1850 to 1880, painted for the College. At a meeting held in December last the following Committee was appointed for this purpose :—

The President of Queen's College (Rev. Thomas Hamilton, D.D., LL.D.), Chairman.

The Lord Mayor of Belfast (W. J. Pirrie, Esq., J.P.)

The Master of the Rolls in Ireland.

Lord Macnaghten.

Sir F. E. Macnaghten.

The Rev. G. Raphael Buick,

LL.D. (Moderator of the General Assembly).

The Rev. R. W. Seaver, M.A.

The Rev. Charles Scott, M.A.

The Rev. W. Todd Martin, D.LIT.

The Rev. Alex. Gordon, M.A.

Professor Redfern, M.D.

J. A. Lindsay, M.D.

Professor Cuning, M.D.

J. J. Austin, M.D.

Sir William MacCormac, M.D.

Professor Parser, LL.D.

Professor Park, D.LIT.

Professor Dill, M.A.

Lavens M. Ewart, J.P.

W. H. Patterson.

Richard Lilburn.

John Vinycomb.

R. M. Young, B.A., J.P.

John M'Bride.

James A. M'Neill, B.A.

Robert Dods, B.A.

William Swanston, Treasurer.

Professor Meissner and Francis Joseph Bigger, Secretaries.

Subscriptions at once flowed in. The painting of the portrait was entrusted to Mr. H. R. Douglas, and it is hoped that it will be hung early in the ensuing session.

THE MUSEUMS AND LABORATORIES.

All the Museums and Laboratories have been well maintained during the year. A considerable number of valuable specimens have been purchased for the Natural History Museum, which has also been enriched by several presentations. Among these prominence must be given to one received from Hugh Hyndman, Esq., LL.D., a well known alumnus of the College. It consists of a collection of Irish plants and other specimens made by his uncle, the late George C. Hyndman, Esq., who was well known in his day as one of the highest authorities on our local fauna and flora. Several important presentations were also made to the Medical Museums, the re-arrangement and cataloguing of which are in progress under the care of the Curator, Professor Symington.

THE STUDENTS' SOCIETIES.

It has been very gratifying to me during the year to notice the prosperity and activity of the various Students' Societies. The Literary and Scientific Society, under the presidency of Mr. R. H. Ashmore, B.A., and the Medical Students' Association under that of Mr. S. M. Magowan, M.B., had excellent meetings and able discussions.

THE EXTENSION OF UNIVERSITY TEACHING.

Although our local scheme for the Extension of University Teaching is not officially connected with the College, yet, as it is carried out on University lines by University men, most of whom are our alumni, and as many of its lectures are given in the College, I may here briefly summarise its proceedings during the past session. The classes which were held were in the following subjects:—Astronomy, Electricity and its Practical Applications, Physiology, Tennyson and the "In Memoriam," and Early English History and Literature, the respective lecturers being Dr. J. L. Dreyer, Astronomer of Armagh Observatory; Mr. W. B. Morton, M.A., Junior Fellow R.U.I.; Professor Thompson, M.D.; the Rev. Samuel M'Comb, B.D.; and the Rev. E. I. Fripp, M.A. The introductory address at the commencement of the Session was given by Professor Dowden, Dublin, who took "John Milton" as his theme, and the closing lecture by "Ian Maclaren" (the Rev. John Watson, D.D.), who discoursed on "Robert Burns, the Poet of the People." An examination was held at the close of each class, at which medals and certificates were awarded. I am glad to say that the work of the Society was well and vigorously done during the session, and I cannot but think that it supplies a felt want among us, and renders a service to the cause of education which could not otherwise be easily supplied.

GRANT FROM THE SORELLA TRUSTEES.

I have the pleasure of reporting that the Sorella Trustees, established under the will of the late William Dunville, Esq., made in the course of the year a grant of £100 towards the purchase of additional apparatus for the department of Physiology—a benefaction which, I need scarcely say, was very thankfully received.

SCIENCE RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP.

I have just received intimation that Her Majesty's Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1851 have resolved to place the nomination to a Science Research Scholarship of the annual value of £150 at the disposal of the College next year. The intention of the Scholarship is to enable students who have passed through the College curriculum, and have given evidence of capacity for original research, to continue the prosecution of science with the view of aiding its advance or its application to the industries of the country. This is the fourth time that the Commissioners have given us the nomination to one of these very important and valuable Scholarships.

LECTURES.

The Council have had under consideration during the year the advisability of commencing lectures earlier in the Session than hitherto. The various University and College Examinations which fall to be held in September and October render it impossible to do much in this direction. But in the coming Session it has been arranged that lectures in Medicine shall commence on Tuesday, October 20th, and lectures in Arts and Engineering on Monday, November 2nd. Lectures in Law will begin on Wednesday, January 6, 1897.

CONCLUSION.

I have thus briefly sketched the history of the College during the past year. I hope that the account which I have given, short as it necessarily is, is sufficient to show that it continues to serve earnestly and not unsuccessfully the great purposes for which it was founded by Your Majesty, as these are defined in our Charter, viz., "to afford to all classes and denominations of our faithful subjects, without any distinction of religious creed whatsoever, an opportunity for pursuing a regular and liberal course of education." If it was deemed advisable fifty years ago to establish such a College in Belfast, when the population of the city was but 80,000 or 90,000, how much more is such a seat of learning essential now, when the town of those days has grown into a city of about 300,000 inhabitants, and when the port of Belfast, judged by its customs revenue, ranks third in the entire United Kingdom. Along with the liberal support of the State, I trust it will receive from the citizens of Belfast a continually increasing measure of such generous help as similar seats of learning in England and Scotland receive from the cities in which they are situated. Every one knows what Edinburgh and Glasgow and Liverpool and Manchester have done and are continuing to do for their Colleges. It is largely owing to the princely liberality which has been lavished upon them by wealthy and public-spirited citizens that they are what they are to-day. One cannot visit their splendid buildings or scan the long list of the gifts which they have received without longing for the time when Belfast College shall, through like munificence, enjoy a similar position of wealth and usefulness. Our roll of benefactors has already inscribed upon it the names of men whose donations or bequests not only worthily perpetuate their memory, but year by year continually serve the public good. The names of Pakenham and Sullivan and Porter and Dunville and Drennan and Tennent and M'Kane will thus ever be held in grateful remembrance among us. I trust that this honourable list will grow. In not a few departments the College needs, and would gladly welcome, the aid of those who are interested in the educational advancement of Belfast and the North of Ireland, and, as has well been said recently—

"There never was a time when it was more requisite, more urgently necessary, that the principle of mental cultivation should be thrust into the foreground and held up on high before the entire community, for we live in a period when what I may call wealth-making conditions are multiplied to an enormous extent. The enjoyments of life and the conveniences of life have grown around us in a degree that can hardly be conceived by those who have not witnessed the change. The meaning of all this is that wealth is acquiring a still greater hold upon us. Wealth is a good servant but a bad master, and there is no master who has had the power of degrading the human being more than the unchecked dominance of wealth. Against the dominance of wealth a University represents the antagonism which is offered to it by mental cultivation. The mind of man should be treated as a rich domain, requiring only to be well ploughed and to be well sown in order to yield richest harvest, and in order to maintain effectual protest against that unchecked pursuit of material interests which constitutes one of the greatest social, and I may even say one of the greatest spiritual, dangers of the period in which we live."

In the Appendix to this Report I have placed lists of the Visitors, the President, the Professors, the Deans of Residences, and other Officials of the College, together with a series of tables showing (1) the Number of Students matriculated in the Session 1895-96; (2) the Numbers and Religious Persuasions of the Students who have entered in each year since the opening of the College, and the Numbers and Religious Persuasions of the Students who have attended in each year; (3) the Numbers attending in each Faculty during the Session now ended; (4) the Number of Students who came to the College from each of the provinces of Ireland, and from other places, during the Session; (5) the Ages of the Students in attendance; (6) the Number of Lectures given by each Professor during the Session, and the Number of Students attending each Class; (7) the names of the College Scholars and Prizemen for last Session; (8) a list of Degrees, Diplomas, and Honours obtained by Students of the College at the Examinations of the Royal University of Ireland in 1895; (9) a list of sundry Students who have, since 1st January, 1881, obtained distinctions in Universities other than the Royal University of Ireland; (10) a Table showing the Length of Service, Salaries and other Emoluments of the Professors and Officers of the College; (11) a List of the Benefactors of the College since its foundation, with an account of their benefactions; and (12) an account of the Receipts and Expenditure of the College during the year ending 31st March, 1896.

All which is testified on behalf of the College by

Your Majesty's

Most dutiful servant,

THOMAS HAMILTON,

PRESIDENT.

July, 1896.

TABLE XI.—BENEFACTORS of QUEEN'S COLLEGE, BELFAST, since its Foundation in 1845.

ANNO.

1847. Presented by Charles Davis, Esq., a large oil painting of the Assassination of Peter the Martyr, by Atkins, being a copy of the original painting by Titian.

— Presented by Professor Craik, a portrait of Confucius.

1851. The Governors of the Armagh Observatory, with the sanction of Her Majesty, transferred to the College the Transit Instrument and Astronomical Clock which were formerly in the Observatory at Kew.

The Lords of the Admiralty, on the recommendation of the Astronomer Royal of England, acceded to an application from Professor Wilson for transferring to the College a Mural Circle by Jones, which had been in use at the Cape of Good Hope.

For the reception of these instruments an Observatory was erected on the College grounds, the expense having been defrayed by subscription.

1854. Presented by W. P. Wilson, Esq., M.A., former Professor of Mathematics in the College, a Bust of Sir Isaac Newton.

1855. Presented by Robert H. Lynn, Esq., London, an oil portrait of James the First of England when a child, an oil portrait of Joannes Carolus, and an oil portrait of John Milton.

1860. An oil portrait of Hugh Carlisle, M.D., former Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in the College; presented by the subscribers.

1864. Given by R. M. Wilson, Esq., an Exhibition of Twenty Pounds to be conferred annually upon one or more of the most deserving unsuccessful candidates for a Scholarship of the First Year.

This Exhibition was awarded for eleven years.

1864. Given by the Royal Academical Institution, Belfast, two Exhibitions of Five Pounds each, to be conferred annually upon students from that Institution who have taken the highest places in the Literary and Science Divisions, at the Examination for Scholarships of the First Year.

1866. Given by John Charters, Esq., an Exhibition, value Fifteen Pounds, and two Exhibitions, value Ten Pounds each, in the Literary Division of the Faculty of Arts; also one Exhibition, value Fifteen Pounds, and two, value Ten Pounds each, in the Science Division of the Faculty of Arts, to be called the "Charters' Exhibitions," and to be annually awarded during ten years, at the Examinations for the Literary and Scientific Scholarships of the first year, to students who, during at least one year previous to their entrance into college, have been in continuous attendance at the Royal Academical Institution, and who have attained the standard of excellence required at the Junior Scholarship Examinations. Also, an Exhibition, value Fifty Pounds, tenable for one year, to be called the "Charters' Medical Exhibition," to be annually awarded during ten years, in connexion with the Belfast School of Medicine, by the Trustees of the "Charters' Educational Fund."
